Article Overview

Lighting distribution boxes in Mali typically range from around $20 for basic residential meter boxes to several hundred dollars for industrial or high-capacity units.

Residential Distribution Boxes

For simple residential or single-phase meter boxes, prices start at approximately $20 per unit . These boxes are designed to house basic electrical components such as prepayment meters, circuit breakers, and fuses, and are suitable for small homes or individual connections.

Industrial and Commercial Distribution Boxes

For larger or industrial-grade distribution boxes, such as the TSM Series or XL-21 series, prices are higher due to increased capacity, materials, and compliance with international standards (IEC 60439, EN60439-3). These boxes can accommodate multiple circuits (ranging from 2 to 45 ways), feature galvanized steel, aluminum, or reinforced plastic construction, and include DIN rails, neutral and earth bars, and transparent doors . Costs for these units can range from $100 to several hundred dollars, depending on size, configuration, and supplier.

Factors Affecting Price

- o Material and durability: Galvanized steel or aluminum boxes are more expensive than plastic models.
- o Capacity: More ways or higher amperage ratings increase cost.
- o Brand and certification: Internationally certified brands (e.g., CHINT) may cost more.
- o Import duties and tariffs: Importing lighting equipment from Mali may incur additional fees, which can increase the total cost by around 14% for LED and lighting equipment .

Purchasing Options
