Article Overview

As of May 2025, the average export price of optical fiber cables from Spain was approximately $14,089 per ton, while the average import price was around $15,904 per ton.

Current Pricing Overview

The Spanish fiber optic cable market has experienced notable price fluctuations over recent months. Export prices surged by 13% in May 2025 compared to the previous month, reflecting strong demand and market volatility, with an average monthly growth rate of +9.9% over the preceding five months. Import prices, on the other hand, decreased slightly by -4.4% in May 2025, though they had increased by +65.2% since February 2025 .

Supplier Landscape

Spain has a robust network of fiber optic cable suppliers, with 319 active suppliers shipping to over 400 buyers worldwide. These suppliers offer a variety of products, including single-mode and multimode cables, dielectric fiber-optical cables, and cables designed for high-speed, long-distance data transmission . Many suppliers provide direct contact information for procurement, enabling faster negotiation and sourcing.

Market Trends

- o Prices vary significantly depending on the destination market. For example, exports to Germany reached $41,867 per ton, while exports to the UAE were around $7,581 per ton .
- o The Spanish market has seen growth in production and exports after a period of decline, with France, Italy, and Germany being the main export destinations .
- o Fiber optic cables are increasingly used in telecommunications, data centers, and networking applications, driving demand for high-quality, durable cables .

Practical Considerations

When sourcing fiber optic cables from Spain, consider:

- o Supplier reliability and shipment history to mitigate risks of delays or price volatility .
- o Cable type and specifications (single-mode vs multimode, connector types, environmental resistance) as these affect pricing .
- o Market fluctuations and international trade factors, which can influence both import and export prices . For precise quotes, it is recommended to contact suppliers directly or use platforms like Volza or Farnell Spain,
